NEWS AND COMMENT.

REV. R. G. PEARSON, the great evangelist, after a long illness, is now able to resume his wonderful labors in the cause of true religion.

STATISTICS show that of 2,400 murders committed every year in this country not quite four per cent. of the perpetrators suffer the extreme penalty of the law.

IN less than twenty-three years the sheep industry in the State of Iowa has languished to the extent of 75 per cent.—2,339,425 sheep, under the fostering care of protection, having been reduced to 540,700.

NOTHING could be more fitting than that the imposing ceremonial of unveiling the monument to the memory of ROBT. E. LEE should be performed by JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON, the most illustrious survivor of the most wonderful struggle that modern times have witnessed.

"THE Tarboro Banner will issue a small monthly called Hymen, which is to be devoted to fun and matrimony." We know some people who have been "up to the altar" of the gentleman after whom the editors of the Banner intend to name their paper who have failed, so far, to see where the fun comes in.

THE New Berne Journal favors the celebration of the 20th of May as the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence—not only by the people of Charlotte but of the whole State and the whole Union. Why not? Now that SAM JONES has consented to take back his crushing doubt of its authenticity, the Mecklenburg Declaration may be allowed to stand.

TWO "fast" white girls were arrested a few nights ago in Wilmington while parading the streets in men's attire. They were released on promising to gratify their propensity for a "lark" in some other way hereafter. We can't keep that charming sex from "wearing the breeches" alas! too often, but we draw the line at their coming out from home with the trousers on.

IN the death of Prof. JULIUS L. TOMLINSON, the efficient superintendent of the graded schools of Greensboro, which occurred on Sunday morning, 11th inst., the interests of popular education in North Carolina have received no inconsiderable blow. He was a painstaking, conscientious, thorough instructor, the beneficent results of whose work will endure for many years in the community which mourns his departure.

NOW is the time for MCKINLEY, of Ohio, to exclaim "et tu Brute!" and to "fall down at the base of Pompey's statue, bleeding like a stuck pig"—or words to that effect. His colleague, BUTTERWORTH—not having the fear of the wrath of the "Buckeye" voters before his eyes (for he declares that he neither desires nor expects to go back to Congress)—has charged in on MCKINLEY'S tariff bill, "horse, foot and dragoons," and the damage bids fair to be more bewildering and heart-rending than that caused by the proverbial "bull in a china-shop."

WE heartily endorse the Asheville Citizen's nomination of Col. JNO. D. CAMERON, until recently editor of that paper, to the Professorship of History at the University of North Carolina. That chair could not be better filled. "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country;" and just so soon as brains and influence are needed for positions in this State those having in charge the duty of filling such positions commence to cast their eyes across the border on either side, or tiptoe, with the eye shaded by the hand for a good long sight, after a possible candidate in "furrin parts." But if a scholarly, well-equipped, thoroughly able North Carolinian can be made to answer in this instance, we point with pride to Col. JNO. D. CAMERON.

"THERE'S retribution in history." The "Iron Chancellor" shaped the policy and controlled the destinies of the most powerful nation on earth for twenty years—more the friend than the servant of his first august master, bending courts and principalities to his inflexible will, and sweeping enemies from his path as the wind whirls the dead leaves in its resistless course—but even his haughty head was to bow at last to the imperious behest of one weak woman. BISMARCK, we are told, is about to give to the world a book of his "Experience as Chancellor." If he be a veracious chronicler of the events of the past decade he will tell how he found himself confronted and thwarted at every step by the subtle intellect of England's Princess, the dowager Empress, and how he learned too late that "hell has no fury like a woman scorned."

THE editors of the Greensboro Patriot are to be heartily congratulated. The paper dons a handsome new dress, and they commence the publication of a daily—an evening daily for the present—"not for fun or glory," we are told, "but for the advancement of the interests of its owners and its patrons, for the upbuilding of Greensboro and the benefit of its section and its State." We know that the Patriot can be depended on to promote the prosperity of its section and people, and, beyond this, we hope it will reap something more substantial than "fun and glory"—the only prizes that are to be gathered galore in the newspaper field. Try it, you who crave these laurels, and you need not be numbered among those to whom ARTEMUS WARD addressed his injunction: "Be virtuous and you will be happy, but you will miss a heap of fun."

LATEST NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD.

The three children who were bitten by a mad-dog, and who went to Charlotte to use the Butler madstone, have returned home. The stone was applied as long as it would adhere. The children returned home fully recovered. ——A very wonderful story comes from Key West, relative to the arrest of the city marshal by U. S. officers, and the attempted arrest of mayor Cottrell; Pinkerton, the newly appointed collector, preferred the charges for the arrests, and if what he says is true the mayor is one of the greatest desperadoes in the country; the whole thing, however, has much of a Munchausen flavor about it, and is evidently manufactured for partisan purposes. ——The strikers in Germany have become very riotous, and armed police parade the streets to preserve order. ——Hon. Richard Vaux has accepted, in a patriotic speech, the nemination as Mr. Randall's successor in Congress. ——The Emperor and Empress of Germany are on a visit to Koenigsburg, where they were enthusiastically received by the authorities and people. ——The International Prisons Congress will open in St. Petersburg on the 16th of June. ——The contest for the Kentucky Senatorship, in place of Mr. Beck, it is thought will be between Mr. Carlisle and Mr. Lindsay. ——A fine oil portrait of Governor Dudley has been received by Governor Fowle. The collection of portraits of Governors, which was begun in 1885 during Gov. Scales's administration, has been attended with such success that there are in the executive office fifteen portraits, and in addition a bust in marble of Governor Ellis. ——Valuable discoveries of iron ores have just been made in Chatham county. Some analyses of these which have been completed show the ores to be of great richness. ——D. R. They became frightened at an approaching train, and jumped into the river and were drowned. ——The line of railroad extending farthest east and west is the Canadian Pacific, running from Quebec to the Pacific Ocean. ——Serious race trouble is threatened at St. Joseph, La. White residents have organized, and with Sheriff Young and a posse have gone to take quarters at plantations where the trouble is. A white blacksmith shot and killed a negro named Clark. A large crowd of negroes made an attack upon the blacksmith, and manager Trimble shot into the crowd, killing the leader. ——George Taylor, colored, was put in jail in Salisbury on the 12th inst. for indecent behaviour before, and indecent language to, a little girl about 12 years old, returning from school. He was arrested, after running and attempting to escape. The negro pulled a pistol on an officer, but it snapped and did not go off. He was put in the calaboose to await trial, but Tuesday morning the doors were found to be open and they did not appear to have been violently opened. It now develops that Taylor was taken out by a posse between Monday night and Tuesday morning, and a nameless punishment inflicted on him. Since then nothing has been heard of the negro. ——Clay Barclay, who was supposed to have been drowned last week in Catawba river at Robinson's Ferry, is now believed to have been murdered by two men with whom he had a difficulty several months ago, and several arrests have been made. Barclay's buggy whip, cushion and contents of the buggy have been found, but all efforts to find the body proved unavailing. The country community is greatly stirred over developments tending to show murder. ——Jennie Edwards, the unfortunate young woman charged with infanticide at Greensboro, is slowly recovering. She is guarded day and night. It is thought that she still intends to commit suicide, and would no doubt do so were she given the opportunity. She is pitiable in the extreme. ——The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows have adopted the recommendation of Grand Master Brown to pay Grand Secretary and Lecturer B. H. Woodell a salary of $1 500 so that he can devote his entire time to the work. ——The Asheville Citizen suggests Colonel John D. Cameron, former editor and proprietor of that paper, as a suitable person to occupy the Chair of History which will be established at the University of North Carolina by the trustees at their next meeting. ——The University catalogue shows 200 students—an increase of 13 over last year. There are 33 in the law school. Of post-graduates there are 14. Next September the medical and pharmaceutical department will be opened. ——The Guilford Grays will go to Richmond to participate in the military display at the unveiling of the monument of General Robert E. Lee on the 29th. ——The public debt statement shows a reduction of $7,636,901 in the debt for April.

What Women Like in Men.

Ladies' Home Journal.]

Women, I think, like manly not lady-like men.

They like honesty of purpose and consideration.

They like men who believe in women.

They like their opinions to be thought of some value.

They like a man who can be strong as a lion when trouble comes, and yet, if one is nervous and tired, can button up a shoe, and do it with an amount of consideration that is a mental and physical bracer-up.

They like a man who can take hold of the baby, convince it of his power, and get it to sleep after they have been worrying with it, and walking with it, until their eyes are tired and they feel as if they had no brains.

They like a man who is interested in their new dresses, who can give an opinion on the fit, and who is properly indignant at any article written against women.

They like a man who knows their innocent weaknesses and caters to them; who will bring home a box of candy, the last new magazine, or the latest puzzle sold on the street, that will do more than its duty in entertaining everybody for the whole evening.

They like a man who is master of the situation—that is, who has brain enough to help a woman to decide what is the best thing to do under certain circumstances, and who has wit enough to realize—when one of the fairer sex is slightly stubborn—that persuasion is more powerful than all the arguments in the world.

They like a man who likes them—who does not scorn their opinions, who believes in their good taste, who has confidence in their truth, and who, best of all, knows that the love promised him is given.

That is the sort of man a woman likes, and her every sigh of satisfaction, as his virtues are mentioned, is a little prayer that says: "God bless him."

A Merciful Judge.

Boston Courier.]

There was once a little woman who, as other little women had had before her, was so unfortunate as to have a husband who drank like a fish, and the more he drank the more heartily he beat and abused her. She endured it like an angel, and indeed it is to be feared that part of the sin of his misdoing was to be laid upon her head, so temptingly patient was she, and so far was she from treating him as he deserved to be treated.

But in course of time a kind fate interfered to save the little woman from the further abusing of the brute. He took one drink too many, and broke his neck in an ill-judged attempt to carry himself and too many potions of brandy on horseback at the same time.

And when the man was dead the little wife remembered no more his brutality, nor the size of the stick with which he had been wont to beat her, grievous to be borne although it had been. She mourned and wept and lamented, and told her friends what a paragon he had been, until one of them could bear it no longer, but flamed out with cruel kindness, and denounced the dead man as the drunken brute he really had been.

The widow looked up through her tears with a world of reproach in her eyes.

"He was a good man and a good husband," she said indignantly. Then her native instinct for truth asserted itself. She dropped her voice and lowered her head. "Though I can't say," she added, "that he was altogether adapted to liquor."

And that was the most severe thing the good little widow was ever heard to say concerning the departed brute.

The Dreamy Cuban Woman.

Correspondence of the Louisville Courier-Journal.]

The Cuban woman goes through the world in an easy, shiftless sort of way, lounges only too gracefully in a hammock or lolls in her rocking chair, her mind intent on only one idea—how to keep cool. The grace of the woman is set off by the marvelous way with which she uses her fan. Not for a moment is it at rest; it flutters, waves idly, is open and shut in the space of a second; falls to the side, and rises to take a part in the conversation. The type of the face which beams above every fan in Cuban high life is difficult to describe. The complexion varies from olive to white; deep black hair is the prevalent hue; but the eyes! Luminous, dreamy, so large, dark and vivid. La Senorita, with her certain childlike frankness, but with a provoking richness and fire of nature in her features, ensnares many a heart as she sits at her open window twirling her fan and watching the curling smoke from her cigarette; and, while she is kept under the strictest surveillance, she is a woman and romantic, and many are the proofs that "stone walls do not a prison make."

Empress Elizabeth's Palace.

The Chicago Herald.]

The Empress of Austria is building herself a magnificent Pompeian palace at Corfu, which will have cost nearly $2,500,000 by the time it is ready for occupation. It is on a charming site on top of a steep hill, and is being constructed of marble brought from Carrara, while the interior is to be decorated with the rarest woods. The gardens will be laid out in terraces, with fountains, and both the house and grounds are to be illumined by electricity. Three hundred men are now employed on the building operations.

The Head of the Shakers.

Frederick William Evans, who for many years has been the Presiding Elder of the Shakers in America, lives in rigid simplicity at New Lebanon, N. Y., on the estate of 4,000 acres which the Shakers have owned since 1770. He is eighty-two years old, but is still vigorous in body and mind, and is the real head of his people. "We live here in solitude," said Mr. Evans to a visitor, "and grow up like the trees in California. Our life is simple, and we believe that every person born has an equal right to the soil."

Footprints in the Stone.

A great discovery of fossil footprints has been made at a quarry in Holyoke, Mass. Here is a clean surface of shale, about 100x40 feet, on which are seen about two hundred tracks. Nearly all of them are in rows, the longest one containing seventeen tracks. The tracks are from six to eight inches in length, and were probably made by a reptile that, if it had front feet, it hardly ever used them. This is, without doubt, the largest uncovering of tracks for many years.

Largest Sailing Ship in the World.

The largest sailing ship in the world is in the possession of France. She is a vessel of five masts, on four of which square sail is carried. The length is 334 feet, with a beam of forty-nine feet. The cargo which the French ship could carry is no less than 61,000 tons. The ship is built of steel, her masts and yards being of the same material. She is at present trading between France and the Pacific.

GREAT MEN IN TUBS.

Luxurious Bath-Rooms for Congressmen.

New York Commercial Advertiser.]

Saturday is wash-day in the House—that is, it is the day when all the members take their baths. Some there may be who bathe oftener than once a week, but they all bathe on Saturday. When they come out of the marble tubs, get into the sweat-room, and are rubbed down, they are then sprayed with cologne without cost, and come out as fine as a fiddle.

The bath-rooms of the House have been greatly enlarged. They are situated down in the sub-basement where steam-heating apparatus keeps the atmosphere at even temperature. Soft carpets are laid along the stained floor, and on either side of the narrow corridor are nine bath-rooms, most of which are as large as an ordinary bed-room, lighted by electricity, carpeted and furnished with suitable toilet articles.

Most of the tubs are of very large size, cut out of solid blocks of marble, and a shower-bath arrangement is attached to each tub. Two or three old-fashioned tubs have been lately replaced by modern ones, and one room has been fitted up with chairs, tables and lounges, where members may smoke and dream away half an hour after the bath.

This little room is so arranged as to be as cosy as possible, and its subterranean location, its privacy and comfort have made it a favorite resort for members who want to hold conferences or exchange secrets which it will not do to whisper above-ground. No voice would ever reach the upper air from this, and no one would ever find these gentlemen hid so far below the surface. The only way to reach it from the House is by the elevator.

A Senator who says that he has tried all the baths of America and Europe pronounces this the best of all. The member takes his place in one of the marble tubs, while an attendant adjusts the temperature of the room, and tempers the water to suit his pleasure. Then, with delicate scented soaps, the statesman is lathered, then he is scrubbed and rolled and tumbled, put into a marble tank, and left to soak with his head just above water, until all the fumes of tobacco and the recollections of the last night's dinner are soaked out of him; then he is rubbed down with crash towels, and, if he desires, he can get into the steam bath. Afterwards he can go to the lounging room and stretch himself upon a downy couch, to smoke and drowse, forgetful of all the affairs of state that weigh upon his brain.

Congress provides all this for its own comfort, having paid for these rooms and fitted them up. Two men are employed as keepers of the bath, and all the soaps, towels, etc., are furnished by "Uncle Sam." Bay rum used to be supplied for bath purposes at government expense, but this is no longer done. The head keeper of the bath, who receives a salary of $720 a year, buys the perfume himself, and the members pay him for it or not, according to their liberality. If some fail to give him a "tip" others over-pay, so that the balance at the end of the month is not against him, and the supply of bay rum is not cut off.

Members not only get their baths free of charge but they have a chiropodist. By his delicate skill he keeps the feet of Congress free from pain, and the "footprints left in the sands of time" may bear witness to his skill.

The Tariff Cost of Being an American.

N. Y. Herald.]

McKinley prices to Americans are going to be higher than present prices, for the McKinley tariff puts higher duties on almost everything that Americans use. But prices to foreigners are to be as low as ever.

The tariff cost of being an American citizen is so great that it would be money in his pocket to make himself a foreigner. The highly protected "home manufacturer" lays his heavy hand on the American citizen, and that is what he wants a tariff for. For instance:—

Under the present tariff and before we get to McKinley prices American axes cost American citizens $7.76 per dozen, but the same axes are sold by the same American manufacturers to foreigners for $6.75 per dozen. A plough for which the American farmer is charged by the American manufacturer $11.00 is sold to foreigners by the same manufacturer for $8.40. A plough for which the American manufacturer charges his fellow citizen, the American farmer, $5.60, the same manufacturer sells to a foreigner for $5.04. For a gang plough the American manufacturer charges the American farmer $58.80, but he charges the foreigner only $52.92. For a dozen shovels the American manufacturer charges his fellow citizen $9.20, but he lets the foreigner have them for $7.86.

The copper lords having got in 1861 so heavy a duty on foreign copper ore as to exclude those ores entirely, and thus give them a monopoly of the celebrated "home market," have for many years sold the surplus copper in Europe a cent or two per pound cheaper than they would sell it to Americans, to the great injury of American copper workers and the depression of the wages of this large class of mechanics.

What is the use in being Americans when laws are so "fixed" that the protected manufacturers are enabled to charge and do charge much higher prices for their protected products to Americans than they charge for the same goods to foreigners?

Ravages of Sparrows.

Steps are being taken in Dorsetshire, England, with a view of checking, if possible, the mischief now being wrought in that section by the ravages of the sparrow, which have increased to such an extent that during the past year nearly half the crops in some parts of Dorset were destroyed, the damage being put at the lowest computation at from £20 to £40 on each farm. The garden crops have been damaged to a similar extent, whilst in some villages the thatched buildings have been very nearly stripped by these birds. A large meeting has been held at Dorchester, at which it was resolved to offer 4d. per dozen for all old birds killed, 2d. for young ones and 1½d. for eggs. Committees were formed to carry out the raids.

Hustle—Pullman, of Chicago, had an order for a parlor-car the other day, to be done in 48 hours, and he got it out. What do you think of that?

Flash—Friend of mine in New York had 10 minutes to make a train in yesterday, and he made it.

Josie—Can Mr. Hugg drive with one hand, Ethel?

Ethel—No.

Josie—There is not much fun in riding with him then.

Ethel—Oh, yes, indeed there is. I drive.

Angeline—Do you believe that love flies out of the window when poverty comes in at the door?

Howard—If it does not go out for a divorce.

When the poet wrote of the "breaking waves" he undoubtedly had in mind the seaside resort and the grasping summer hotel-keeper.

Ran His Train Through the One Ahead.

Philadelphia Press.]

"There are heroes and heroes and heroines and heroines," said Chauncey M. Depew in speaking of personal bravery. "There are blue-shirted men who go over our railroad lines every day in engine cabs who would laugh at you if you intimated to them that they are heroes, and who, in spite of all, are as brave as any man who ever drew a sword or carried a musket. Railroad men seldom have much time to think. They are cowards or heroes in a second. Not long ago one of our engineers of an express train rounded a turn in the road, and saw that another train had been derailed, and lay right across the track. A collision was inevitable. The engineer might have taken chances and jumped, but he didn't. As he said afterward:

"'I saw right away we were in for it, and like a flash it struck me that our only chance was to go right through if we could. So I threw her open and let her go.'

"The experiment was perilous, but it was successful. He did 'cut through,' and no one was injured. This act of the engineer was that of an exceedingly courageous, cool-headed man.

"Another engineer on a Western road performed a similar act with tragic results. He tried to—or was forced to try to—cut through a freight train that had been thrown across the track. None of the passengers were injured, but the engineer and fireman were killed. This is but too often the reward of bravery in all walks of life."

An Anecdote of Webster.

North American Review.]

Webster was once speaking to an immense crowd in Faneuil Hall, and was in the midst of a stirring appeal, urging the necessity for individual exertion and unflinching patriotism to arrest the dangers that threatened the political party whose principles he espoused, when he perceived the terrible sway of the packed assembly and the imminent danger that might ensue. He stopped short in the middle of a sentence, advanced to the edge of the platform, extended his arm in authoritative attitude, and, in a stentorian voice of command, cried out: "Let each man stand firm!" The effect was instantaneous. Each man stood firm; the great heaving mass of humanity regained its equilibrium, and, save for the long breath of relief that filled the air, perfect stillness ensued. "That," exclaimed the orator, "is what we call self government!" So apt an illustration was it of the principles he was expounding that the vast assembly responded with deafening cheers.

Give Water to Infants.

A distinguished children's doctor believes, from his practice, that infants generally, whether brought up at the breast or artificially, are not supplied with sufficient water, the fluid portion of their food being quickly taken up and leaving the solid too thick to be easily digested. In warm, dry weather healthy babies will take water every hour with advantage, and their frequent fretfulness and rise of temperature are often directly due to their not having it. A free supply of water and restricting the frequency of nursing have been found at the nursery to be a most effectual check in case of incipient fever, a diminished rate of mortality and marked reduction in the number of gastric intestinal complaints being attributed to this cause. In teeth-cutting water soothes the gums, and frequently stops the fretting and restlessness in children at that period.

Women and Lace.

They say it was a woman, Barbara Utman, who invented the pillow lace, in the sixteenth century. Women have ever since been patrons of lace-making. It is Queen Victoria who has kept the Honiton laces in fashion. Her wedding dress and veil and the bridal laces of all her daughters have been of English Honiton, in patterns of roses, shamrocks and thistles, the national flowers. They say that Victoria has $500,000 in fine laces. "Now, at least, I can have laces," said Anne of Austria when her husband died, and her court was famous for its cleanliness and its Spanish point. When Colbert, minister of Louis XIV., started lace-making in France, he had the women as coadjutors. Napoleon revived point d'Alencon because Josephine loved it and spent fabulous sums on it. Eugenie was resplendent in lace, and had $1,000,000 worth.

Threw Away Their Fortune.

Chicago Tribune.]

Valentine Setting and wife, of St. Louis, went out driving recently. Mr. Setting is a jeweler, and by hard work and rigid economy had succeeded in accumulating $4,605 in hard cash, which was kept in the house. On starting for the drive, being afraid to leave the money in the house during their absence, Mrs. Setting put the money in her stocking. It felt uncomfortable there. She took the package out and placed it in the bottom of a paper bag containing oranges, and which she carried in her hands. During the drive through the park the couple ate the oranges, and when the last one was gone threw the bag away, losing sight of the fact that it contained all the money they had in the world. They did not discover their loss until late in the evening, and all attempts to find the package proved unavailing.

How Monkeys Catch Land Crabs.

The way in which monkeys catch land crabs around Signapore is thus described: The monkey lies down flat on its stomach, feigning death. From the countless passages piercing the mud in every direction, thousand of little red and yellow crabs soon make their appearance, and, after suspiciously eyeing for a few minutes the brown fur of the monkey, they slowly and cautiously sidle up to him, in great glee at the prospect of a big feed off the bones of Master Jocko. The latter peeps through his half-closed eyelids, and fixes upon the biggest of the assembled multitude. When the crab comes within reach out dashes the monkey's arm, and off he scampers into the jungle with a cry of delight to discuss at leisure his cleverly-earned dinner.

Miss Tebee (fishing for a compliment)—Do you think I am so very old?

Mr. Blunderer (anxious to please)—No, indeed! You are not half so old as you look.

Mrs. Nervus—I want a good girl. Now, is this girl you recommend capable?

Agent (pityingly).—Capable! Why, ma'm, that girl is capable of anything.

A Paris milliner has made a ten-strike by teaching her parrot to say every time a fair client enters the store: "Oh, aint you just lovely!"

Bessie—Did you miss your first husband very much?

Lulu—Not until I married my second.

"That's the fellow I'm laying for," said the hen, as her owner come out with a pan of corn-meal.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS.

The reason RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER is the most wonderful medicine is because it has never failed in any instance, no matter what the disease, from LEPROSY to the simplest disease known to the human system.

The scientific men of to-day claim and prove that every disease is

CAUSED BY MICROBES,

—AND—

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER

Exterminates the Microbes and drives them out of the system, and when that is done you cannot have an ache or pain. No matter what the disease, whether a simple case of Malaria Fever or a combination of diseases, we cure them all at the same time, as we treat all diseases constitutionally.

Asthma, Consumption, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Disease, Chills and Fevers, Female Troubles in all its forms, and, in fact, every Disease known to the Human System.

Beware of Fraudulent Imitations!

TAKE THOUGHT FOR THE FUTURE.

The devastation wrought by the late civil war fixed upon the Southern people habits of thought and action whose pernicious effects now confront us at every turn.

An utterly exhausted country and a thoroughly prostrated people needed—even more than political rehabilitation—at least a partial restoration of material prosperity: and they needed it at once. It was a land without farming stock, without agricultural implements—a people almost barefoot, almost without shelter, almost without bread and meat. The eagerness to "materialize" on what little resources were left was illustrated in the digging up of old rosin-beds—fair types of utter worthlessness ten years before—and this spirit, somewhat lessened in volume from its first ebullition, still characterizes the short-sighted utilitarianism which makes the most of the means at hand with crude greediness, without thought of the morrow.

It is true that the Creator intended the wealth of forest, mine and field for man's use and emolument, but he intended the enjoyment of those blessings to be marked by the same prudence that would make the most of the contents of a pocket-book. We venture to say that even the most indifferent would be appalled by only the approximate figures of the vast amount of timber which has been cut in North Carolina during the past twenty-five years, and the immense extent of territory which has been laid waste, as it were, by the ruthless invasion of the axe and the mill. The increase of railroad mileage, the opening up of hitherto undeveloped sections to market, the building of towns and villages, the establishment of varied industries—all these presuppose a largely augmented demand for raw material. In fact, progress leaves in its wake this very destruction.

But a thoughtful people would hardly see stretches of forests as big as European principalities turned into the voracious maw of commerce without a thought that there is a hereafter; prudent men, as they laid the axe at the root of each "monarch of the wood" would make some provision for the growth of a successor. If it be true that "he is a benefactor who causes two blades of grass to grow in place of one," posterity will have abundant cause to bless that organized and concerted action which addresses itself to the reproduction and restoration of the fast-vanishing woods and timbers of North Carolina.

The ordinarily thoughtful man in the countries of the Old World pauses to plant carefully the seed of the fruit which he has just enjoyed on the wayside—an exhibition of prudence that would be received with a smile here in Cumberland county; but the time is coming when forestry protection will imperatively demand consideration at the hands of this people. Those who have seen the greater part of an average human life may selfishly console themselves with the reflection that the present condition of things will "last their time;" but such indifference will be impossible to the coming generation.

Around us, in Cumberland, Richmond and Moore counties, there are miles and miles of desert land which, with good management, could be regrown and reclaimed, with a value ten-fold that of all the ridge-back hogs that are now turned loose upon them; but, the present careless system still pursued, the evil will increase in the future rather than diminish.

"MEANING BUSINESS."

The following is taken from the Statesville Landmark of the 15th inst.:

Information is just received here that a corps of engineers of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad are established on Dr. L. Harrill's farm on the Yadkin river in Wilkes, and that they are locating a line up the valley on the south side of the river. They are moving quietly, and have an appearance of meaning business. If this road builds up the Yadkin, Statesville must have a connection with it. Yadkin county could afford to give $100,000 to it.

We have not had occasion to "interview" any of the officials of the company since reading the above, but we will venture to say that our excellent Statesville contemporary has been misinformed. We are reasonably certain that there is now no engineering corps of this road in the valley of the Yadkin—whatever may be the developments of the future.

The Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway Company generally mean business in every step they take and every lick they make. They have in hand the greatest and most useful system of internal improvement in the South, and the time is to come when they will "possess the land," so far as North Carolina is concerned. Wherever the mineral wealth of the earth's bosom is to be developed, wherever manufacturing advantages are to be utilized, wherever the fatness of fair farming lands is to bear fruit, it is in the nature of things that the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley will stretch out its arms, push its branches and complete its connections.

SENATOR CARLISLE.

The nomination by the Democratic caucus of the Kentucky legislature of John G. Carlisle, now a member of the House of Representatives, to the seat in the United States Senate made vacant by the death of Mr. Beck, is an eminently fitting selection by the party in that State. Mr. Carlisle was, by consent, the Democratic leader in the lower house for years—never failing to evince the high qualities which would fit him for so trying a position. A member of Congress for seven consecutive terms, he has perhaps accomplished more work than any other man occupying a seat during the same length of time. Who is now to fill exactly Carlisle's place in the Democratic party in the House—Crisp, of Georgia? He is an able man.

THE TIME IS APPROACHING.

Judge MacRae has for some weeks been devoting himself to the grave duties of affection about the bedside of his brother, Mr. John MacRae, who lies very ill at his home in Wilmington—and to the former's friends an opportunity is now afforded of evincing their sincerity by active efforts to secure his renomination.

A Constitutional amendment has given us an elective judiciary; but, despite this misfortune, we may see to it that its pristine integrity is sustained by having a care how we lightly call upon one to lay aside the official mantle who has worn it so worthily. Fortune has given to Judge MacRae, during his term of service, the adjudication of two or three of the most important cases in the State's legal records, and he has brought to the discharge of each grave responsibility a rigorous impartiality, a conscientious study of the questions involved and an intellectual acumen which, taken with his whole judicial course, warrant us in the belief that a failure to give him a renomination would be a grievous loss to the bench and to the proper administration of the laws.

There is at present no probable vacancy to be looked for on the bench of the Supreme Court, and manifest injustice would be done to Judge MacRae to deprive him of his present position under the question able plea of possible future promotion.

The Odd Fellows.

The State Convention of Odd Fellows scored a brilliant triumph in Wilmington last week in the general interest of the proceedings, in the amount of important work done, in the favorable impression made by the body upon their Wilmington hosts and in the pleasures of their stay in the hospitable city. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Grand Master, Dr. John H. Pool, of South Mills.

Deputy Grand Master, John F. Bruton, of Wilson.

Grand Warden, John D. Bellamy, Jr., of Wilmington.

Grand Secretary, B. H. Woodell, of Raleigh.

Grand Treasurer, R. J. Jones, of Wilmington.

Grand Representative, Jos. G. Brown, of Raleigh.

Trustee of Orphanage, Nathaniel Jacobi, Wilmington.

The Grand Master appointed the following officers:

Grand Marshal, Jno. D. Deans, of Toisnot; Grand Conductor, E. T. Crews, of Oxford; Grand Guardian, D. F. W. Retter, of Moyock; Grand Herald, J. F. Willsford, of Concord.

The Grand Encampment elected the following officers for the ensuing term:

Grand Patriarch—T. E. Phillips, Fayetteville.

Grand High Priest—T. M. Stephens, Durham.

Grand Senior Warden—A. Broadfoot, Fayetteville.

Grand Junior Warden—J. W. Stanley, Goldsboro.

Grand Scribe and Treasurer—T. W. Blake, Raleigh.

Grand Representative—John L. Dudley, Wilmington.

Grand Sentinel—E. T. Crews, Oxford.

Grand Outside Sentinel—W. P. Shelton, Mt. Airy.

District Deputy Grand Patriarchs—Benj. Bell, Campbell, No. 1; W. D. Gaster, Pine, No. 3; Alex. Miller, Calumet, No. 4; C. H. Doughty, Paisley, No. 10; J. C. Allen, Tarboro, No. 13; G. L. Tonnoffski, McKee, No. 19; D. P. Hasket, Goldsboro, No. 17; J. W. Bradford, Salem, No. 20; W. H. White, Allen, No. 23; E. H. Heartt, Durham, No. 24; A. L. Sparger, Mt. Airy, No. 25.

Oxford was selected as the place for the next meeting of the Grand Lodge.

The Landmark on Rev. Sam Jones.

Joe Caldwell, of the Statesville Landmark, never fails to say a thing as it ought to be said, and is never afraid to "speak out in meeting." Here is his estimate of Rev. Sam Jones:

The point most insisted upon by the apologists for that reverend blackguard, Sam Jones, is that people who have never heard him cannot estimate him and have no right to criticise him. Few people, comparatively, have ever seen or heard President Harrison or ex-President Cleveland, Speaker Reed or ex-Speaker Carlisle, Talmage, Spurgeon or Canon Farrar; yet everybody has a clear-cut opinion of each of these gentlemen, and nobody who has an unfavorable opinion of any of them is ever told that he has no right to it until after he has seen or heard the man. The defence is one that is made for Sam Jones only. It is not claimed that the newspapers tell lies on him; that they put in his mouth words which he never uttered. It is confessed that he uses the coarse, brutal language attributed to him, but the way in which he gets it off has everything to do with it! It is the very funniest apology that was ever made for a man, dead or living. The fact is that he establishes a sort of terrorism over every community which he invades. He bullies people out of their money, browbeats them into standing up to make promises which they know they are not going to keep, and bulldozes them into silence or commendation. He is not only dragging the pulpit down to a level with the saw-dust ring but is lowering the whole tone of society.

Wilmington Notes.

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 19, '90.

The weather here has been very delightful for several days past. It has already assumed a decidedly heated degree.

The Wilmington Light Infantry, commanded by Capt. W. R. Kenan, left for Charlotte at 6.45 this evening to take part in the celebration of the 115th anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, which takes place there on to-morrow. The Company will enter the competitive drill. They certainly carry the good wishes of every one here for a successful termination of their trip.

Our city was almost full to overflowing during the past week. Crowds of people came to witness the aquatic performances of Paul Boynton at Wrightsville. It is said there were more people at the sound on this occasion than have ever been there before at one time. Many improvements have been made at the beach, and many visitors are expected this season.

The Grand Encampment of the I. O. O. F. convened here last week, and they, with the excursionists, added much to the enliveningof business and gave our streets a very cityfied appearance. The Odd Fellows are indeed a clever set, and express themselves as delighted with our "City by the Sea."

We are glad to announce that Mr. John MacRae, who has been quite ill for some time with typhoid fever, is now convalescing.

We are informed that Rev. Thos. Dixon, pastor of the twenty-third street Baptist Church, New York City, one of the finest pulpit orators in that denomination, and a native North Carolinian, will lecture in this city on the 13th of June for the benefit of the Brooklyn Baptist Church here.

We had the pleasure of seeing among our visitors last week the genial and clever Dave Gaster, Owen J. Jackson, Messrs. Wemyss, Sutton and others of Fayetteville, who were in attendance upon the Grand Encampment.

Wilmington's steady growth seems very marked. The number of new buildings going up in the city and about the suburos is a sure and substantial proof of her onward progress. Real estate is on somewhat of a boom.

Quite a charming german was given at Hammocks to-night. Most of the young people availed themselves of the opportunity, and seemed to enjoy the mazy waltz until the whistle of the last departing train compelled them to depart.

Among the passengers on the steamer Delaware which arrived here Saturday from New York, were Mr. and Mrs. Jos. H. Strange, who have come out on a visit to relatives and friends.

MORE ANON.

Duplin Notes

Reported for the Observer.]

KENANSVILLE, N. C., May 17, 1890.

MESSRS. EDS:—He who wins the heart of a Kenansville maiden is fortunate; so hearty congratulations were extended last Wednesday evening by numerous friends to Mr. Henry Yates Moore, a former resident of this place, now one of the leading men of Goldsboro, who was united in marriage to Miss Anna Brown, one of our most popular and attractive young ladies. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Peter McIntyre in his most impressive and graceful style, and the happy couple left on the evening train for Goldsboro, their future home, accompanied by Miss Jennie Moore, a sister of the groom, Mr. J. D. Simmons, of Mt. Olive, Mr. Fonveille, of Goldsboro, and Mr. Diggs, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Hinshaw, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Brinkley, of Magnolia, arrived Wednesday morning to be present at the marriage ceremonies.

If we were not afraid of our mayor (who is a single man) we would suggest that marriage bells may be heard again.

Miss Jennie Farrior leaves next week for a visit to friends in Whiteville and in Wilmington.

Miss Rosa Newell is visiting Miss Bettie Farrior.

Mrs. Ferrington, of Faison, visited recently the family of Dr. Blount.

Mr. Crocker, a member of the graduating class at Wake Forest, will preach here one-fourth of his time. He will make Mt. Olive his home.

In the absence of Rev. J. D. Standford, the services at Beulaville last Sunday were conducted by Prof W. M. Shaw.

The summer school of Profs. Grady and Shaw has again been postponed, and will probably not open before the first of July.

Mr. R. W. Hargraves returned yesterday from Wilmington.

Miss Laura Moore, who taught in the Franklin Academy during the winter, has been selected assistant postmistress.

The Episcopalians.

TARBORO, N. C., May 15.—The 74th convention of the Diocese of North Carolina met here last night, with a large attendance of ministers and delegates. Just one hundred years ago two Episcopal clergymen and two laymen met here, and held the first convention of the church in this State. This was the first effort to organize the church in North Carolina, and from that effort sprang an army of distinguished clergymen and laymen. It was an inspiring scene yesterday to see the ministers, robed in neat surplices, march by twos into the church to melodious music from the organ.

Rev. Jarvis Buxton preached the introductory sermon, and Rev. Dr. Marshall, of Raleigh, was elected temporary president. Mr. Charles E. Johnson, of Raleigh, was re-elected treasurer, and the different reports were made and the usual committees were appointed.

The report of the church for the past year was in the highest degree encouraging, and that on the condition of the Orphanage was a source of much gratification. Asheville was selected as the place for the next convention.

Sudden Death in a Hole.

SELMA, N. C., May 15.—Two Johnston county moonshiners, David Britt and son, engaged in illicit distilling near Graves' Mill on Neuse river, on the night of the 13th, made themselves known in a very tragical way. David being drunk, fell in the well, pulling a barrel in with him, and broke his neck. His son sought aid from Graves' Mill to extricate his father from the well. They recovered the body, and set watchers over it.

Two unknown parties, at midnight, offered to relieve the watchers over the corpse, and during this time the still is stolen, and the morning of the 15th finds the corpse all alone.

Struck by Lightning.

Smithfield Herald.]

The dwelling of Prof. John L. Davis of this place was struck by lightning last Tuesday evening. The current of electricity first struck one of the chimneys in the main body of the house. Here it divided; a part of it went down the chimney, and the remainder was distributed to all parts of the house by the tin which lines the four valleys leading from the chimney. No one was hurt. The family had just left the room into which the lightning went down the chimney. Doubtless all would have been killed if they had remained in there but a few minutes.

Endorsement at the Capital.

Wash. Cor. of State Chronicle.

The Post of this morning has an editorial notice of the fact that Hon. Wharton J. Green will be a candidate for Congress in the 3rd North Carolina District. Col. Green, Mrs. Green and their daughter, Mrs. Pembroke Jones, have a host of friends here who would be delighted to have him reelected. He has powerful political and social influence here, which would be largely increased by a long Congressional term. The State never sent a more faithful and efficient Representative here.

DIED.

WADE—On the 4th inst., near the Bluff Church, Mr. W. ROBESON WADE, in his 31st year. He was the son of Mr. Marshall Wade, and was a young man of many admirable traits of character.

His bereaved wife, in a letter to the writer, pays a merited tribute to the dec ased: "You have known him from childhood, and fully knew how good and pure his life was." These loving sentiments are aptly descriptive of the faithful son, the devoted husband, the fond parent and the christian man.

The writer received husband and wife into the church, and deeply sympathises with these children of sorrow and affliction.

Mr. Wade was a member of the Bluff church, which he dearly loved. And his talents were used for the Master in the Church and in the Sabbath school, which mourn his untimely loss.

May God comfort the stricken ones, and have in His special care the bereaved widow and the orphan child. McB.

FALLS CITY, NEB., May 18, 1889.—I want another jug of Microbe Killer. I have used one jug and must say that my catarrh and dyspepsia, of many years standing, have almost disappeared. My appetite, which was so delicate, is just the opposite. My kidneys also bothered me a great deal, but they do not now. I believe Microbe Killer to be the greatest medicine in the world. You may use my testimony and welcome, if it will do any good.

Yours truly, H. E. EMERORY.

The Presbyterians.

The general Southern Assembly of the Presbyterian Church opened here to-day with one hundred and thirty commissioners present. Dr. H. G. Hill, of Fayetteville, the retiring moderator, preached the opening sermon. Rev. Jas. Park, of the Nashville synod, was elected moderator, by a vote of 72 to 56 for Rev. C. R. Hemphill, of the synod of Kentucky. The commissioners were tendered a reception to-night, when Gov. Fowle delivered an address of welcome.

SORE LEG CURED.

BLACK CREEK, N. C.

MRS. JOE PERSON—Dear Madam:—Yours of the 17th received, and very willingly I will reply. When I first commenced the use of your valuable medicine I could not walk one step, on account of a very bad sore on my leg. I bought three bottles of your Remedy and four packages of the Wash, and commenced to use it. I could see the improvement in a few days, and to-day I can happily say I am well, and can, with much pleasure, recommend it to any person as the best medicine I ever used. Yours truly, C. PITTMAN.

The above sore was caused by a wound received during the war, and has been sore ever since, so Mr. Pittman told me.

MRS. JOE PERSON.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy will Cure Blood Impurity.

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C.

A few months ago my daughter had been suffering with some blood impurity which resulted in boils and risings on her body; they occasioned such debility and general bad health that I had to stop her from school in consequence. She was reduced in flesh, and her general health was giving way. After trying various treatments without effect, I concluded to use Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. It acted like a charm: her general health is excellent, she is cured of the risings, has resumed her studies, and in every way is in better health than she ever was in her life. As a tonic for general debility it has no equal.

I am very truly, B. R. ARRINGTON.

My Remedy is now put in plain, round, pint packing bottles, no name blown. The carton holding bottle is now printed altogether in black ink instead of black and red as heretofore; my signature on each label is now written with pen and ink, instead of lithographed as formerly. Every label and carton numbered, as in physicians' prescriptions. The Wash packages are printed altogether in black ink and numbered. Persons buying the Remedy should see that the new style is furnished them, as I cannot guarantee any other to be genuine.

MRS. JOE PERSON,

REV. J. B. HAWTHORNE
WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT
DR. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

The following is an extract from a letter written by the World Renowned Evangelist:

"I returned from Tyler, Texas, on the 12th inst. I find my wife has been using Royal Germetuer to the GREAT UPBUILDING of her physical system. She is now almost free from the distressing headaches with which she has been a MARTYR for twenty years. Surely it has done wonders for her! I WISH EVERY POOR SUFFERING WIFE HAD ACCESS TO THAT MEDICINE."

Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, Pastor First Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., was cured of a long standing case of Catarrh. His wife had been an invalid from nervous headache, neuralgia, and rheumatism FOR THIRTY YEARS, scarcely having a day's exemption from pain. After taking Royal Germetuer two months, he writes: "A more complete transformation I have never witnessed. EVERY SYMPTON OF DISEASE HAS DISAPPEARED. She appears to be twenty years younger, and is as happy and playful as a healthy child. We have persuaded many of our friends to take the medicine, and the testimony of all of them is that it is a great remedy."

Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is a boon to women. It builds up the strength, increases the appetite, aids digestion, relieves them of the cause of disease, and insures health.

It is an infallible cure for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Insomnia, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Palpitation, Liver, Bladder and Kidney Diseases, Chills and Fevers, Catarrh, all Blood and Skin Diseases, Female Troubles, etc.

Prompted by a desire to reach more suffering people, the price has been reduced from $2.50 to $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. For sale by the

and by Druggists. If your Druggist can not supply you, it can be sent by express.

☞Send stamp for full particulars, certificates of wonderful cures, etc.

JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE

NOLANDINE!

The Great Virginia Vegetable Alterative,

BLOOD PURIFIER AND RENOVATOR

—OF THE—

HUMAN SYSTEM!

Has been used most successfully in the following Diseases, as the Certificates below will attest:

For Liver Complaint, Jaundice and Bilious Derangement. In Mercurial, Blood Poison, Scrofulous and all Eruptive Diseases, Costiveness, Indigestion Flatulence, Periodical Sick Headache and Female Complaints.

READ THE CERTIFICATES.

From Virginia Medical Monthly (September number, 1889) Landon R. Edwards, M. D., editor and proprietor, Richmond:

"THE NOLANDINE COMPANY, of Richmond, Va., begin an advertisement in this issue of preparations which have received the highest kind of professional endorsements for the cure of chills and fever, functional liver troubles, etc. The virtues of the drugs named seem to rest in the special manner of their combination. During a recent visit to the laboratory we were courteously shown every detail of the manufacture."

I have used your vegetable preparation, "NOLANDINE," and find it a valuable agent in the treatment of functional diseases of the liver. Its action on that organ and all secreting glands is equal to that of calomel, and to my mind, the only yet discovered substitute for this time-honored remedy. It is, further more, entirely free from constitutional effects too often observed from the use of mercurials; and, in many cases, where mercurials have been incautiously administered, I have witnessed the beneficial results of "NOLANDINE," in eliminating and modifying the most distressing after symptoms. I will add, in regard to your Fever and Ague Preparation, that I prescribed it for my mother, who had been a sufferer from chills and fever for twelve months. She had taken quinine until it had ceased to have any effect on her. One-half bottle of my NOLANDINE for chills and fever relieved her entirely of the chills and restored her to good dealth.

I cheerfully recommend a trial of NOLANDINE to the profession, believing that it will stand their test

Very truly yours, A. TRENT CLARKE, M. D.

The very high character of the testimonials attesting the merits of your vegetable preparation, NOLANDINE, induced me to make a test of your NOLANDINE proper in a very desperate case of Hydrothrax [dropsy of the chest], combined with Ascites [dropsy of abdomen]. The usual remedies known to our profession had been most skilfully administered without producing anticipated effects. The diseases yielded to the action of your NOLANDINE. I very gratefully state that my patient is now enjoying the blessings of a restoration to good health, and now, four months since administering your NOLANDINE, there is not a symptom of recurrence.

I had several opportunities of testing the merits of your NOLANDINE for chills and fever in cases which had resisted the usual remedies for months, and had the satisfaction to see them entirely broken and permanently cured after a course of your NOLANDINE.

I know that I will incur the displeasure of the profession by departing from its usages, but candor and facts compel me to call the attention of my professional brethren to the valuable properties of your preparation, and trust that prejudice will not deter them from its use. I have found the action of your NOLANDINE on the liver and secretions more than equal to calomel, which is an additional recommendation.

Very respectfully, A. G. JONES, M. D.

409 EAST CLAY STREET, RICHMOND, VA., April 19, 1887.

J. W. Johnston, Proprietor of Nolandine:

During the last twelve months I have had frequent opportunities of testing the curative properties of your VEGETABLE NOLANDINE in the following diseases, and in not a single case did it fail to accomplish all that you claim for it: Dyspepsia and other catarrhal affections of the stomach and bowels, catarrhal affections of the kidneys and bladder, uterine catarrh and irregularities, malarial complications and habitual constipation, and as a general tonic and alterative, I have round it very efficacious.

Yours truly, JAS. A. GARLICK, M. D.

IRWIN P. O., GOOCHLAND, VA., August 1, 1889.

To the Nolandine Company, Richmond, Va.:

From personal experience I can very cheerfully recommend NOLANDINE for all it claims, and, in this opinion, I am borne out by others who have tested its merits.

Yours truly, G. H. PALMER MOREWOOD.

TAYLORSVILLE, HANOVER COUNTY, VA.

The Nolandine Company, Richmond, Va.:

Gentlemen:—I have been a great sufferer from blood poison, which caused large sores to come all over my legs and feet, so that I could hardly wear my shoes, when I received a bottle of NOLANDINE from a friend. I began using it at once, and in less than ten days it had cured me completely. I think it the best remedy in the world. I am yours very respectfully, WM. M. TERRY.

To the Nolandine Company: June 1, 1889.

Permit me to add my testimony to the curative properties of NOLANDINE. For many years I have suffered from varicose veins. Twelve months ago I struck my leg against a chair, breaking one of the veins. The wound thus made could not be healed, except for a short time, then break out afresh. At times I suffered untold misery from local fever and most insufferable burning sensation After using two (2) bottles of your VEGETABLE NOLANDINE the ulcerated places healed, the swelling disappeared, natural sleep was restored, and my nervous system composed. As a vermifuge, NOLANDINE acted specifically on one of my children. As a blood purifier and general tonic your NOLANDINE has no equal.

Gratefully yours, D. B. PROSSER.

At S. S. Cottrell's Son, 1302 Main Street, Richmond, Va.

RICHMOND, VA., October, 1886.

My wife and three children returned to this city from Charles City County, where they contracted chills and fever, and their systems thoroughly saturated with malarial poison. One bottle of JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLANDINE cured my entire family. My wife suffered for five years with dyspepsia in its most aggravated form, and was permanently cured by VEGETABLE NOLANDINE, using only two bottles. J. B. BURTON.

RICHMOND, VA., July, 1889.

This is to certify that I have known of the superior qualities of JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLANDINE for the past ten years, and during that time, at intervals, have had occasion to use it in person, and in my family, and have always found it a sure cure for derangements of the liver and kidneys, indigestion, headache, etc., and a good tonic. L. C. DAVIS, 804 North Fifth Street.

ROBIOW'S STATION, CHESTERFIELD CO., VA., March 25, 1885.

Mr. J. W. Johnston:

Dear Sir:—Having suffered for years with a chronic affection of the kidneys, derangement of the liver, and my general system charged with malarial poison, I found no relief from treatment of medicine until I used VEGETABLE NOLANDINE. I am now free from above complaints, and to NOLANDINE I am indebted for this restoration to health. I honestly recommend it to all persons suffering from the above diseases. WILLIAM DICKSON, Superintendent of Coal Mines.

RICHMOND, VA., May, 1885.

I can cheerfully recommend JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLANDINE to any one suffering from liver or kidney complaints and bilious derangement of the system. Its prompt and permanent action in my case affords me pleasure to recommend it to others similarly affected.

CHARLES P. SELDEN, Hardware Merchant,
Formerly with Singer Sewing Machine Co.

409 EAST CLAY STREET, RICHMOND, VA., March 10, 1886.

Mr. Jos W. Johnston:

Dear Sir:—I have used your NOLANDINE, and would cheerfully recommend it as a valuable medicine for malarial diseases and for promoting appetite, and a splendid tonic. For the relief of the pains consequent upon female weakness and irregularities I consider it without an equal.

Respectfully, MRS. L. M. BELL.

OFFICE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY COMPANY,
RICHMOND, VA., March 1, 1885.

I lived on lower James River for eight years in the malarial district. My sytem was thoroughly charged with this deadly poison. I exhausted the usually prescribed and domestic remedies without any benefit. I was induced to try JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLANDINE. Before using two bottles my liver was aroused from its long torpor, and I am now enjoying the best of health. My wife and children derived the same benefits from NOLANDINE. J. A. WYATT.

FLEET, KING AND QUEEN CO., VA., January 31, 1887.

I was afflicted with chills and fever during the fall of last year. I could stop them with quinine, but they wouldn't stay stopped; they would return the 7th, 14th, 21st, or 28th days. A friend gave me a part of a bottle of NOLANDINE, and I used it according to directions, and I have not had a chill since. I am in good health and weigh as much or more than I ever did. E. S. WILSON.

Mr. Johnston: 509 NORTH EIGHTH STREET, RICHMOND, VA.

Dear Sir:—Your NOLANDINE has quite come up to all its promises. So valuable do I consider it as a family medicine that, unsolicited by yourself, I offer my certificate.

Yours truly, MRS. E. F. PATTON.

J. W. Johnston, Proprietor Nolandine: RICHMOND, VA., July 13, 1887.

Dear Sir:—I have taken your NOLANDINE for habitual constipation of eight years' standing, during which time I have tried many preparations, but I did not receive any relief until I used your preparation, from which I have received immediate and permanent benefits. Was also suffering with malarial and blood poison. I am now free from all such complications and, I am happy to say, enjoying exceptionally good health.

Yours truly, J. R. DOWDEN.

J. W. Johnston: 412 EAST BROAD STREET, RICHMOND, VA.

I feel it but just to recommend your valuable medicine, NOLANDINE, for any trouble caused by torpid liver, or constipation produced by morphine or any drug used to subdue pain. As a tonic for delicate females it is unsurpassed.

The above you are heartily welcome to use any way you deem best, and I will personally tell any one what it will do on application. Respectfully, MRS. A. E. ANTHONY.

RICHMOND, VA., October 1, 1889.

To whom it may concern:

For twelve months I was a fearful sufferer from chronic eczema, during which time I was in the hands of a most skillful physician, faithfully using his remedies, internal and external, without deriving any benefit whatever. I suffered night and day with the most intolerable itching, continuous headache, loss of sleep, appetite and strength. My kidneys and nervous system were fearfully deranged, and my body was covered with innumerable boils. By taking three (3) bottles of JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLANDINE I have been restored to perfect health. I regard NOLANDINE as the best blood purifier and the most powerful tonic ever compounded, and I am not alone in this belief.

Very respectfully yours, &c., H. B. GRUBBS.

The Fayetteville Ice Factory is being enlarged and the capacity increased with the view to supplying the anticipated increased demand, consequent on the failure of the last winter's ice crop.

Newton's Mill.

Mr. Z. B. Newton has brought the energy which characterizes him in all his business affairs to the work of rebuilding his recently-burned mill in Seventy-First township, and the new mill, with a complete equipment of the best machinery, will be in operation now in a short time.

Young in Harness.

Mr. Percy Page, the efficient operator at the telegraph office of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, has been authorized by General Manager Fry to employ as his assistant Owen Page—only 13 years of age, and probably the youngest operator in the State. May his early experience with the "clickers" lead him on to fame and fortune.

Meeting of Committee.

The members of the Executive Committee of this Judicial District have been notified to meet at Rockingham on Tuesday, 3rd of June, at which meeting the time and place for holding the Judicial Convention will be determined. Mr. S. G. Worth was the member of the committee for Cumberland, but he is no longer a resident of the county.

Enlargement.

Last week the OBSERVER was enlarged from 28 to 32 columns—an increase in size (estimating the augmented length of columns as well as the additional number) of about 20 per cent. We really forgot to make mention of the fact, as it is a small matter to the OBSERVER, which would double some fine day if it should take the notion into its determined head. ["There are no flies," etc.]

The "Bright Jewels."

An "umbrella party," al fresco, took place on the lawn in front of the residence of Mr. W. C. Holland, on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the "Bright Jewels" of the Hay Street Methodist Church, and was participated in with unalloyed enjoyment by quite a large number of the congregation and their friends. Refreshments were bountifully served, the proceeds of the sale of which will be devoted to benevolent purposes.

Sent to the Penitentiary.

Sheriff Smith left for Raleigh on Monday last, having in charge the following convicts for the penitentiary: Jack Purcell, 1 year; Frank Johnson, 3 years; Wm. McCalop, 2 years.

Johnson will be remembered as the negro boy who was charged with the burning of Mr. G. H. Haigh's residence two or three months since, and is only 14 years of age, while McCalop is but 13 years old, and was sent up for larceny.

Honors to the Dead.

The officers and employes of the Carolina Central Railway Company have had prepared a beautiful monumental shaft for the grave, at Buffalo Church, Moore county, of the lamented Col. L. C. Jones, late General Superintendent of the road.

In whatever relations of life he came in contact with his fellows, this generous, brave, big-hearted man gained an impregnable place in their esteem, and acquired a deep and lasting hold upon their affections. Fayetteville mourns his loss as that of one of its most tenderly-remembered citizens.

The New Club.

The members of the literary and debating "Athenæum Club" have taken hold in a very commendable spirit; and, with a continued manifestation of the interest which has marked its inception, the organization will prove very successful and useful. After the transaction of certain routine business, the club was entertained by a beautiful literary address from Dr. W. C. McDuffie, delivered in the inimitable style which renders all his efforts so very pleasing, last Thursday evening.

To-night essays will be submitted by Messrs. McKee Barclay and Rubinstein, at the conclusion of which Mr. J. H. Myrover has been invited to address the club (briefly).

Mrs. H. A. Brown, of Winston, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Cain, and her sister, Mrs. W. M. Dodd.

Obituary.

We announce with deep regret the death of Mrs. Murdoch McRae, who departed this life at her residence, Raemont, in the southern part of Robeson county, at 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon, 16th inst., after a serious illness of several months. Mrs. McRae was the sister of the late Col. W. McL. McKay and of Mrs. M. A. Fuller, of this city, and was a woman of much culture, fervent piety and remarkable force of character.

Mrs. M. Henrietta Evans, venerated and esteemed relict of the late James Evans, and a native of Georgia, died at her residence, Idaho (where she had continuously dwelt for fifty years), in the eastern part of this county, on Saturday, 17th inst. She was of the type of gracious Southern womanhood, which makes up its enduring crown from the precious things of home life, and finds its treasures in the simple joys that cluster about the family hearthstone. A faithful wife and a careful, loving, self-sacrificing mother, her active christianity returned a soul unspotted back to its Maker; and her mourning friends can say: "She acted well her part ordered of God for her mortal ways."

What the Observer Would Like to See—

The Independent Light Infantry, the pride of Fayetteville, attend the unveiling of the Lee Monument at Richmond with at least 50 men in ranks.

A complete system of water-works for this city.

A law passed, giving the same payment to women as to men for the same kind of employment and the same amount of labor performed.

An industrial enterprise inaugurated on every vacant site in this town and suburbs.

A telegram from Washington City, announcing that the bill for our public building had passed the House and received the President's approval.

A first-rate hotel erected at that pleasant summer resort, Red Springs.

A Cape Fear and Upper South Carolina Agricultural Association organized, with headquarters at Fayetteville, which would annually offer the most successful fair and the finest gathering of farmers in the South.

The hacks and omnibuses come from the depots after the arrival of the trains filled to overflowing with passengers.

The Fayetteville & Aberdeen R. R. built and equipped for business.

The southern extension of the Atlantic Coast Line R. R. finished to Rowland.

Another Centennial.

Commissioners' Special Meeting.

The special meeting of the board of County Commissioners, held on Monday, 19th inst., received the report of the committee appointed at a previous meeting to audit the accounts of H. C. Fisher, late sheriff, for the years 1888 and 1889, which was adopted and ordered to be recorded. It appearing that an excess of $72.78 had been paid by H. C. Fisher to the school fund, it was ordered that his account be credited with that sum.

R. W. Hardie, ex-sheriff, having presented, through his attorney, Col. C. W. Broadfoot, a claim against the county for $1,444.21, the matter was, on motion, continued until Tuesday, 27th inst., at which time Mr. Hardie was notified to appear before the board.

On motion of Capt. N. R. Blue, Capt. A. B. Williams, chairman, was authorized to issue a call for a special meeting of the commissioners on the 27th inst.

The "King's Daughters."

The State Convention of "King's Daughters," held at Greensboro last week, was made up of representatives from many of the principal towns in the State, and its sessions were characterized by much zeal and earnestness in the promotion of the good ends which the order has addressed itself to accomplish. A resolution was adopted that the next General Assembly be petitioned to appropriate $20,000 for the establishment of a woman's industrial school. The members of the convention expressed themselves particularly indebted to the Young Men's Christian Association for courtesies extended to the body during its session.

It was peculiarly fitting that the first State Convention of the "King's Daughters" should be held in Greensboro, for nowhere else in the State has the order taken a more general hold on the interest of the people, or enlisted more generally their sympathies.

A Personal Matter.

One of the chief objects of our "Personal Pencilings" is not to compliment people by newspaper mention—for we give the average man or woman credit for enough good sense to make this a matter of little or no importance—but to inform our patrons of the arrival and whereabouts of friends and acquaintances from abroad. Of course our facilities for collecting such information are very limited, and many visitors to Fayetteville come and go unnoticed. Our friends can greatly help us by handing in notes of the coming of guests and members of the family who have been absent—and that, too, without laying themselves liable to the charge of seeking notoriety for those in whom they are interested.

Excellent Goods in Tobacco.

Maj. Orrell, who is the agent of the tobacco manufacturing company of Messrs. Jenkins & Co., has shown us samples of a very good article of cigars—the "Patrona," "Hurdler," etc., made at Mt. Airy, N. C., of which Jenkins & Co., are in their turn the general agents.

By the way, Maj. Orrell is just ready to engage in merchandising at his place in the south-eastern part of Fayetteville, the store-house for which he constructed almost single-handed. Wonderful energy has marked his whole life, and is still a predominant characteristic of his nature.

The Knights of King David.

This colored order, with many visiting delegates from Durham, Greensboro and other cities, made an imposing parade on the streets on last Thursday afternoon, and were generally favorably commented upon as a fine-looking body of men. Interesting proceedings, with an exciting sham battle, occupied the evening session at the lodge.

The Graded School.

The spring session of the Fayetteville Graded School closed last Friday. Lack of time debarred us from enjoyment of the concluding exercises farther than a few minutes spent in hearing part of the room of Miss Matthews acquit themselves with great credit in reading, and in noting the remarkable progress of Miss Haigh's Algebra pupils; but we have good accounts of Mrs. Lanneau, Miss Rose, Miss Taylor, Miss Moore, Mr. McKethan and Mr. Pope. The Superintendent and his faithful assistants may gather the pleasures of vacation as laurels well-won, having worthily acquitted themselves of the responsibilities put into their hands by the Board of Trustees. Prof. McIver will leave here for a visit to relatives on Monday, expecting to submit his annual report to an early meeting of the Trustees.

We hope that we will be charged with no spirit of dictation when we suggest that the election of teachers take place as soon as practicable—as a matter of justice to applicants for positions.

At 12:30 P. M. on Friday the whole school were drawn up in line in front of the main building, and the gold medal for the best essay on the invention of the cotton gin was presented to Miss Ellen Evans by Mr. J. H. Myrover, with a few prefatory remarks. Among other contestants for this prize the names of Misses Georgie Worth and Jennie Vaughn and Mr. Stiles Sedberry deserve special mention.

The F. I. L. I.

Again we urge upon our people the importance of granting such members of the F. I. L. I. as are in their employ a few days' leave of absence as well as reasonable opportunities for properly equipping themselves as well-drilled and thoroughly disciplined soldiers, for the participation in the exercises of unveiling the Lee Monument in Richmond next week. The militia from the Southern States will be there by the thousands, and THE OBSERVER is exceedingly anxious that the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry will rank, as it is entitled to, among the finest companies on the occasion. This, however, cannot be done unless the men are granted privileges and a leave of absence. We notice in Charlotte that the citizens have not only granted leave of absence to members of the Hornet Nest Riflemen in their employ but have raised a purse to aid in defraying the expense of the company to Richmond. We make the statement, and intend no disparagment to the other military organizations in the State, that the Independent is the "crack" company in the State, and we want to see it maintain the same standing at Richmond on the 29th inst.

Gala Day at Dunn.

The closing exercises of Prof. Parker's Institute at Dunn took place on Thursday last—very pleasant and brilliantly successful throughout. Rev. C. W. Byrd, the gifted pastor of the Hay Street Methodist Church of this city, delivered the annual address, of which the Courier says:

The Rev. C. W. Byrd, of Fayetteville, delivered a most excellent address to a full house of attentive listeners, whom he kept spell-bound for an hour by his eloquent flow of choice oratory and finished periods, accompanied by the most intense and thrilling earnestness of style and manner that carried his hearers along with him, as the barque is borne on the crested wave of the resistless tide.

The Rev. gentleman is truly gifted in the graces and the adornments of the theme on which he so eloquently and fluently discoursed, namely: The Passive Conditions and Active Requirements of mind and heart that tend to produce success.

It was a masterly effort, well-handled, full of great and lofty thoughts.

It is a Gem.

Nowhere could be found a more attractive and handsome thoroughfare than Hay street late in the afternoons of spring and early summer—a beautiful promenade for fair matrons and lovely girls, thrilling with the light of their distracting eyes and entrancing with their bewildering smiles, as they return friendly greetings and gallant salutations here and there. Then come the little "tots," intent on the nectar of the arctic soda fountains, and the chariots of the infant brigade in long lines, some of whose cherubic occupants look as preternaturally solemn as if they had already discovered that the "world is hollow and filled with sawdust." God bless mother, girl and babe! We love them every one!

The F. & A. R. R.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad in this city Tuesday, steps were taken looking to the construction of the line between Fayetteville & Aberdeen, at present. A committee consisting of Col. T. H. Sutton, Capt. N. W. Ray, Maj. A. A. McKethan, John Blue and Z. W. Whitehead was appointed to negotiate with other roads with the view to securing such aid and cooperation as is necessary for the successful prosecution of the work of grading and equipping the line.

Military Parade.

The Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry were out on uniform drill and parade last Tuesday afternoon, leaving their armory at 6:30 o'clock, and making an imposing show as they paraded along the main streets.

We understand that an effort is making to organize a band in connection with the company, which would be a great acquisition to the corps. Their march, evolutions, etc., are superb even without music, but a fine band would set them off splendidly.

Memorial Oration at Wilmington.

We wish we could have had the pleasure of hearing on the 13th inst. the Memorial oration of Hon. Chas. M. Stedman, which we so much enjoyed following in type. In some passages eloquent, throughout scholarly and didactic, it was an address not simply tasteful in finish but full of "meat"—a just and carefully-considered tribute to a lamented patriot, a graphic picture of a brilliant achievement of the war—which the careful reader will recognize as a valuable contribution to the historical papers of the South. We reproduce with peculiar gratification the following gracefully rendered meed to the services of two gallant ex-Confederate soldiers of our town:

But they (the sharpshooters) won the day at a bloody cost. Their officers were all wounded—the heroic Tilly mortally, and Lieutenants Todd, Duval, Bunn and Kyle severely—whilst the loss of the rank and file was very great. Col. Stone was so carried away by his admiration of their conduct that he took off his hat, and, cheering them as they advanced, exclaimed: "I would rather command those boys than have a commission as Brigadier General!" Lieut. Kyle was carried that night to a hospital in Petersburg, but when he learned that the sharpshooters were left without an officer he insisted upon returning, and, regardless of the protest of the surgeon, did so. For this gallant officer Gen. MacRae had a most affectionate regard, and never mentioned him except in terms of kindness and high approval.

* * * *

Capt. Young was severely wounded in the latter part of the campaign of 1864, and Lieut. John H. Robinson, Adjutant of the 52nd N. C. Regt., was detailed at the request of Gen. MacRae to take his place as a staff officer. "If Robinson should ever be lost in battle," said MacRae, "you must look for him inside the enemy's line, for he will never be found in the rear."

The State Convention.

Our correspondent, "S.," from whom we are always glad to hear at any time, gives us a few lines on a matter of interest at present, and makes a suggestion which will doubtless meet with the general approval of our readers. He says:

The State Convention to nominate the Supreme and to ratify the Superior Court Judges will soon be called to meet, and it will be a great gathering of the people from every county and section of North Carolina.

Why not have the convention here in Fayetteville? Let us hear from the people here and elsewhere. Fayetteville ought to have the convention, and there is no reason why it should not be held here.

The selection of the place for the last State Convention was decided in favor of Raleigh by a very small majority. The name of Fayetteville as the most suitable and deserving place was very favorably received, and this town came very near being named as the place. Let us try again, and, with proper effort, we can secure the convention for Fayetteville.

Let us hear from the people.

The accident of its being the capital of the State should not give Raleigh a preemption on the State conventions. If there are advantages accruing to the community from such gatherings, it is only fair that other North Carolina towns capable of entertaining large bodies of men should in turn share those advantages; and if the meeting of the "great unwashed and unterrified" is a fearful and a solemn thing for Raleigh, a decent amount of kindness should impel us to help our neighbors bear the burden.

So far as our political fitness is concerned, we believe that we are willing to compare Democracy with Raleigh.

Married

At her late residence near Long Creek, Pender county, April 23rd, 1890, Mrs. M. E. D. Garrason to Capt. Abner Robinson, of Magnolia, Mr. W. W. Larkins performing the ceremony in the presence of a few invited guests. After partaking of a sumptuous repast the happy couple repaired to the home of the latter in Duplin county, where they will reside in the future, carrying with them there the hearty congratulations and many good wishes of a host of admiring friends for a long life of endless pleasure and wedded bliss. The bride is a lady of rare culture and refinement, lovable and homogeneous by nature, and enjoys a wide circle of friends; while the groom is a gentleman of the highest integrity, and enjoys the confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens, whom he has the honor to represent in our State Senate. THE OBSERVER wishes for the newly-made man and wife a realization of the brightest anticipations of a happy wedlock.

The 30th of May.

The banks were closed on Tuesday—a legal holiday as the anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. It is also the anniversary of the organization, more than thirty years ago, of the LaFayette Light Infantry, one of the finest bodies of volunteer soldiery that has ever done service in the State. It was long noted for its fine personnel and the magnificent physique of its men; and when, accompanied by its excellent band, it appeared on parade, it was the cynosure of all eyes. Its first commander was the lamented Col. Jno. H. Cook—followed in succession by Capt. W. G. Matthews, Col. J. B. Starr, and Capt. F. N. Roberts, which brought it to the close of its first term of service in the late war.

Fine Tubers.

Mr. W. P. Wemyss (who delights to snatch a moment now and then from "Uncle Sam's" clamorous customers, and wield the hoe like Cincinnatus) has presented to us a basket of beautiful Irish potatoes grown in his garden. They are the Burpee variety, and mature in remarkable size and regularity.

"Sauce for the Goose"—

And very palatable sauce for this gander, we found it. Mr. A. S. Huske has sent us a sample of the well-known Shrewsbury sauce for meats and salads, the favorite of the cuisiniers and chefs. It is exceedingly appetizing.

Cotton Factory Issue.

THE OBSERVER'S Cotton Factory issue is progressing nicely, and will be out in due time. In point of size, elegance and general make-up we are determined to make it excel any and all former publications of this character in North Carolina.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. H. L. Cook, of the Fayetteville bar, is attending Robeson court this week.

Col. T. J. Jones was welcomed by many friends during a recent visit to the city.

Mrs. Jno. B. Broadfoot returned last week from a visit to New Berne, her former home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Worth, of Haymount, visited Raleigh last week on the occasion of the cattle fair.

Col. Gardner, the veteran Chief Engineer of the Atlantic Coast Line R. R. Co., was in town this week.

Miss Annie T. Gaster, of this city, will be one of the graduating class at Greensboro Female College next week.

Mr. C. P. McEachern, a leading and influential citizen of Robeson county, was in the city Tuesday and yesterday.

Mrs. R. P. Pell, nee Miss Nannie Shepherd, an accomplished lady, formerly of this city, returned to her home in Wilson last week.

Dr. Hanckel, of Greensboro, pro minen in the insurance business in North Carolina, made us a pleasant call two or three days since.

Messrs. R. M. Nimocks, B. R. Taylor and A. H. Slocomb left Monday for the Rocks on a fishing excursion, to be absent several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rosenthal and family have been boarding with Mrs. D. G. MacRae during the refitting of their handsome residence on Rowan street.

Mr. John Blue, of Aberdeen, President of the F. & A. R. R., was in the city Tuesday and reports the outlook good for the future in his section, with a general demand for railroad facilities.

Dr. W. A. Lash, of Walnut Cove, a Director of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway Company, accompanied by a party of ladies, passed through the city on Saturday last, on the way home from Wilmington.

Col. Julius A. Gray, President, Capt. J. W. Fry, General Manager, and Mr. H. L. Fry, Chief Engineer, of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, came down last Friday in special car, returning to Greensboro on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Jas. O'Hanlon, a younger brother of Maj. A. J. O'Hanlon, now residing at Rome Ga., made Fayetteville a brief visit last week. He found many changes since he was here in 1870, and had to regret the passing away of many old friends.

Messrs. J. P. Shelley and A. M. Waddell, Jr., prominently and favorably known in the city of Wilmington, are in Fayetteville this week, representing the "Southwestern Building and Loan Association," of which Mr. Shelley is the general agent, and of which, as will be seen by an advertisement in another column, they desire to organize a branch in this place. No one can converse with them on this subject without being impressed by the soundness of their business views. Mr. Shelley will be here only for a day or two.

By the Thousand.

Mr G. W. Lawrence brought to market last Saturday quantities of excellent early summer cabbage—indebted for their "bighead" to the same generous sun which deepens the glow on the blushing cheek of the clustering grapes at "Happy Valley."

Mr. Lawrence says that he has thousands of these cabbage, and is now prepared to make the Fayetteville hucksters and green-grocers independent of truckers abroad. That is right. We have the best of feeling for New Berne, Beaufort, Norfolk and Florida; but that charity which loafs around about home in the beginning should teach us to keep as much as possible of our ready money within reach.

Fatal Storm.

Our Bennettsville correspondent sends us the following:

During a severe thunder storm Monday afternoon two men, working on the Dr. Jennings farm near here, were instantly killed by lightning. They had been plowing in the field, and had taken shelter under a large tree, which a few minutes after was struck and the two above mentioned were killed, another severely shocked, and, strange to say, the fourth one, who was sitting between the two killed, escaped unhurt.

Yesterday afternoon, while Mrs. Judge C. P. Townsend and one of the children were out riding, the horse took fright and ran away, smashing the buggy, and seriously if not fatally injuring both the occupants.

Is Money Scarce?

We are led to doubt the oft-repeated assertion that "money is scarce in this section," when we remember our experience in past spring seasons and realize that we are doing a fine business this spring. Trade is really good with us, and we wish our friends to continue to help us "keep the ball in motion." Our stock was never so attractive before, nor were prices as low on

THE SONG.

The poet sang of War, that mighty king
Whose crown is flame, whose oath is thundering,
Whose sceptre steel. The paean shrilled unheard
Of fiery souls by battle-fury stirred;
And screaming shells out-sang his minstreling.

Again he sang the glories Gold can bring;
Out-voiced him now the coins' metallic ring;
And, mad for gain, men heeded not a word
The poet sang.

Then softly to his own heart did he sing;
And trembling-sweet a song of Love took wing,
As tender as the call of mating bird:
The smoke-grimed soldier in the trenches heard,
The flushed gold-heaper caught each whispering
The poet sang!

—Dorothea Dimond in Frank Leslie's.

THE VOICEFUL WAVES.

The voiceful waves! I love at night to stand,
Mad with strange yearnings, on the shelly sand,
To watch the foam flowers fade beneath my feet,
And guess what words the lisping combs repeat.
Then, if a ship's spars, like a full-spread hand,
Within the round red moon are framed complete,
I seem to fly to tropic islands sweet,
Where dusky creatures list upon the strand
The voiceful waves.

At morning, too, when sea gulls, white and fleet,
Swim through the mists with measured pinion beat,
I almost hear in forests old and grand,
The unseen winds—I hate this gold-cursed land,
And they have told me of some safe retreat,
The voiceful waves.

—George Horton.

Hilling or Drilling.

Farm, Field and Garden.]

On the same acreage a larger yield of any kind of cultivated crop can be obtained by planting in drills than in hills. But as clean cultivation is necessary to secure a good growth and yield, the cost of cultivation must be considered in determining the profits. That is, in an average soil it is more expensive to give clean cultivation with drills than with hills, and the principal question to determine is whether the better yield secured will pay for the additional cost. Planted in hills, nearly or quite all the cultivation can be given with the plow, but in drills, in a majority of cases, it will be necessary to use the hoe to more or less extent, which increases the cost. The amount of hoeing that will be necessary depends largely upon the character of the soil; if this is in good tilth before planting the seed, so that the harrow can be used early in cultivating, the weeds can be destroyed before they take a fair start, and then if care is taken in keeping the cultivator close to the plants the work of keeping clean can be materially reduced.

To a soil that is foul with weed seeds it is much more difficult to give clean cultivation than to less weedy ground. New ground can often be planted in drills, and very good cultivation can be given with but little hoeing, while a satisfactory yield will be secured.

Potatoes, cane and beans at least should be planted in drills, and it would pay better to hoe even three or four times than to plant in hills; but with corn, as a rule, in what may be termed average ground, the more economical plan would be to plant in hills, so that cultivation can be given both ways, and then if care is taken at the start to work close to the plants the weeds can be kept down. It is not necessary to stir the soil to a great depth, but it is very important that it should be broken thoroughly and kept clean and mellow, and the better this is done the better will be the results secured. Plant in drills if the condition of the soil will permit, but in hills rather than allow the weeds to get too good a start.

Farm and Garden Notes.

Make your plantings small enough to take care of them, but large enough to supply all you need for home use at least.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness." This can well be tacked on the walls of a cow stable as a reminder that success depends to a large extent on the practical application of this maxim in all operations of the dairy.

One of the reasons poultry pays on some farms is because of the vast amount of waste food consumed and converted into eggs and meat. There is no necessity for feeding poultry a large portion of the year when the barnyard is accessible to the hens.

Wideawake farmers own pure-bred fowls, which cost cost no more to feed, and the ratio of profit is greater than with barnyard stock. Why should not every farmer do so? Better test this matter thoroughly this summer. Experience will certainly prove its wisdom.

Special attention should now be given to brood sows. They should not under any consideration be closely confined. The run of a large pasture, though it seem too dry to furnish any food, will be of value, as the hog will pull up roots and other green stuff to relax the bowels and purify the blood.

Those who have never raised ducks do not know that ducklings grow much faster than chicks, and come at a time when the best prices for chicks have passed. Ducks will lay at least one hundred and forty eggs a year, and will begin when six months old. The Pekin is a creamy white, by many considered the best for the farmer, being hardy and of good size—dressing, when in market condition, to meet the most exacting tastes.

Cost of Keeping a Hen.

According to the poultry editor of the Farm Journal, the feed necessary for 100 hens for a year is as follows: 1,000 pounds clover hay chopped, 1,000 pounds potatoes, 2,000 pounds corn meal, 1,000 pounds oats, 100 pounds cotton seed meal, 800 pounds barley meal. Supposing these amounts to be nearly correct, as we presume they are, the cost of the articles will be about $70, which is 70 cents per hen. Any respectable hen ought to lay eggs enough in the course of a year to bring $1.50, or more than double the cost of her keeping. If this figuring is correct the poultry business ought to pay better than most branches of farming.

Mixing of Melons and Cucumbers.

N. Y. Times.]

When cucumbers are planted near melons, and both are in bloom at the same time, the different plants are apt to become mixed to some extent by the visits of bees, which carry pollen from one to the other. To some extent the effect of the mixture is apparent the same year in the fruit, but the next year it is much more so when the cross-bred plants are produced from the seed. This first year's mixture is, however, rare, and has only occurred with the writer once in several years' experience. It is safest to procure fresh seed every year for small gardens in which related plants are necessarily grown close to each other.

"Uncle Pete, were you ever a slave?"
"Befo' de wah, yes, chile."
"What is your last name?"
"Harrison, sah."
"The same as the President's!"
"Yes, chile. But he ain't no relation ob mine."

In the matter of S. J. Cameron, Adm'r of Colin McP. Campbell, dec'd, vs. John Campbell and others named in the summons, heirs-at-law and devisees of Colin McP. Campbell, deceased.
Order of Publication.
It appearing to the Court that Malcolm Graham, Annie Graham and Isabella Graham, children of Margaret Graham, deceased, Daniel C. Graham and William W. Graham and the children of Alex. and Cattie Watson, names unknown, are all necessary parties to this action, the first named living, as it is supposed, in the State of Mississippi, and the last named, as it is supposed, living in Richmond County, N. C., none of whom, after due diligence, can be found in Cumberland County, it is therefore ordered that publication be made in the Fayetteville OBSERVER, a newspaper published in the County of Cumberland, for six consecutive weeks, commanding the said defendants to appear before the Clerk of the Superior Court of Cumberland County, at his office in Fayetteville, N. C., on the 24th day of May, 1890, and answer the complaint of the plaintiff there filed, the purpose of which is to obtain an order for the sale of the lands of Colin McP. Campbell, deceased, to make real estate assets. And let the said defendants take notice that if they fail to appear and answer at the time and place herein named, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.
